

Firemen Eye Plan for Assisting Area Youth

A program to work with young people through the Boy Scouts should be started at all fire stations in the county and should use the skills of firemen, Supervisor Kenneth Hahn has suggested.

"In just a few hours a week, firemen at each station could sponsor youth group activities through Boy Scout Explorer troops," said Hahn, past chairman of the Green Meadows District Boy Scout Council.

"Firemen, as protectors of life and property, already set examples for our young people," Hahn said.

Seniors Honored By Edison

Four Torrance high school students were honored recently by the Southern California Edison Company with their principals and school superintendent.

Among those honored by Edison for excellence in various scholastic categories were Susan Melnick of North High; Gay Smith of West High; Stanley Schiff of South High; and Robert Jagosz of Bishop Montgomery High.

Edison's school representative, Vern Moore, has announced two South High seniors have qualified as semi-finalists in the company's annual scholarship program.

Kenneth C. Austin, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Austin of 3322 Primm Way; and John S. Peterson, son of Mrs. Beverly W. Peterson of 5506 Paseo De Pablo, are eligible for two of the six $4,000 scholarships to 24 participating universities and colleges.

Selection of the six winners will take place in April, Moore said.

Man 'Fair' Following Suicide Try

A 61-year-old Torrance man attempted to take his own life Sunday by slicing his left wrist with a hatchet. The victim's wife found him lying on the floor of their garage at 9:20 a.m., shortly after they had an argument.

Police said the victim kept repeating, "Please let me die."

He is in fair condition at an area hospital, where he was taken for surgery to save his hand.

Ceremony Will Open 'The Cave'

The newest of the rooms at the Torrance Family YMCA will be dedicated during grand opening ceremonies Thursday evening. Known as "The Cave," the room was to have been a part of the original building, which opened in 1966, but it was never completed until now because of lack of funds.

Marshall Stewart, chairman of the YMCA's board of managers, said that the ceremonies will include a ribbon cutting.

Stewart, Ed Johnson and an army of Y Indian Guide dads made The Cave possible. In the coming year, thousands of boys and girls will benefit from Cave facilities.
